A CITIZEN'S OPINION.

Between the Devil and the Deep Sea.

Carson, April 27, 1892.

ED. APPEAL—Sir: Permit me to talk through your paper if this question about to be decided by the voters of Carson District was put before the people with all the advantages for the promoters of a new School House at the recent Mass Meeting in the Court House. The proposition to improve and repair the old building did not get any hearing at all and if those that control the action of that meeting had exercised a disposition for fair play and discussing the question, a committee would have been appointed to investigate the real and true condition of the School House and in their report would have considered an addition and the repairing of the old building, then comparing it with the proposition for a new building would have given a better understanding and more satisfaction. As it now stands, the voter is not favoring to bond the city for a large amount but would favor the bond for a small amount necessary to add rooms and repair the old building. But the way the matter is put before the voters, if the bond is defeated, it will require the call of another election; trouble and expense that could have been accomplished with this one election. That the voter that wishes something to be done has no choice but to vote "Yes" for fear that if bonds be voted down the whole matter would be dropped again like it was two years ago. There is no proposition to do anything else before us. The ballot we are asked to vote is so fixed as to compel one to vote "Yes" rather than have the school house neglected any longer. A great many present at that meeting favored the repairing of the building but could not or would not express themselves in public. The lawyers took advantage of it and hurried it through their own way. It is now most to late to do anything for a fair understanding but to vote it down then to move at once to improve the school house and a good one can be made for five or six thousand dollars; as good as the present outlook for the future seems to warrant. Mining and every other industry is on the down grade, therefore better ponder and decide by your vote that we better wait before spending so much money and look out where we are sailing, jobbery or no jobbery. A SILVER CLUB ORGANIZED

A Red Hot Meeting and Stirring Resolutions.

The adjourned meeting of the Silver League took place last evening at the Opera House. The meeting was called to order by O. H. Grey.

Judge Wells was elected President and S. P. Davis Secretary.

Judge Wells opened with a vigorous speech. He told how earnest the people in the Eastern part of the State were. Everywhere he had traveled they were unanimous for silver irrespective of party. The reason they were roused was the terrible depression in the mining camps. On every side he saw abandoned mines deserted camps and dismantled hoisting works.

Such a picture of ruin and desolation had never been witnessed in the State and it was getting more and more.

All this was because of the crime of 1873 when John Sherman sold himself to the bond holders of the East and Europe. He believed the time had come to fight the battles of silver irrespective of party.

Cleveland had a chance to help us.

Harrison did the same. He would no longer trust either of them and if they were both nominated he would vote for the third man if he lost his vote.

The time for temporizing had passed. He was ready for action and carrying the war in Africa. The Judge spoke for half an hour and his speech was loudly applauded throughout.

The following resolutions were then read by the Secretary:

PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS: By the surreptitious demonetization of silver in 1873, not only were the people of the silver producing States crippled in their chief industry, but the laboring and producing classes of the United States were placed at the mercy of usurers in New York and bond holders in London who now fatten at the expense of our toil and dictate the financial policy of a government, which has since repudiated the obligations under which it was placed, when during the war of the Rebellion the State of Nevada was born that the American Union might live.

RESOLUTIONS.

RESOLVED: That we the citizens and tax-payers of Ormsby county band ourselves together to fight for the common weal of our State and the remonetization of silver by every honorable means in our power so that a government described by Abraham Lincoln as "of the people, by the people and for the people," shall not perish from the earth."

RESOLVED: That we regard the action of the members of Congress who pledged themselves last Fall for free silver and who subsequently voted against the Bland Bill, as indicating more than any other argument yet advanced by them, the great purchasing power of the gold dollar.

RESOLVED: That the members of this organization irrespective of party decline to support any candidate who will not pledge himself unequivocally for the free coinage of silver.

RESOLVED: That resolutions be forwarded by this club to the Republican and Democratic State Conventions demanding that a plank providing for the free and unlimited coinage of silver be inserted in each of the State and National platforms and that each candidate be pledged unequivocally to its support.

RESOLVED: That the thanks of the club be tendered to all members of Congress who have labored in behalf of the white metal.

RESOLVED: That the thanks of the club are hereby tendered to M. D. Noteware for his energetic and persistent efforts, in first rousing public action on this question in Carson City.

F. G. FOLSON, Chairman
S. P. DAVIS, Secretary.

The resolutions were all passed as read until Resolution No. 3 was read.

It pledged the League not to support any candidate in the State of Nevada, who was not for free coinage. Gen. Jones offered as an amendment that the resolutions be made to include not only candidates in Nevada but National candidates by striking out the words "for any office in the State of Nevada." This amendment immediately called out Lieutenant Gov. Poujade who spoke against it as indicating a desire for a third party. Messrs. Folson, Noteware, Wells, Jones and Davis spoke for the amendment and Messrs. Elstner, Grey, Colburn, Poujade and Meyers, against it.

Several votes were taken and divisions called for before the result could be determined. When the meeting finally decided in favor of the Jones amendment which pledged the club to carry the fight into National politics. Those who opposed the motion held that it indicated a third party and those who spoke for it held that it was necessary to present a bold front to the enemy in order to command respect and that by so doing there would be no necessity of a third party as before the Conventions met both parties would be breaking their necks to secure the silver vote and that it would be a question as to which party had the strongest plank.

The discussion was carried out with considerable vim and the Mint employees were charged with an attempt to capture the meeting they being there in full force.

The result being amended the meeting adjourned and groups of excited men gathered in the street still keeping up the discussion but after awhile everybody was in better humor and the hope was everywhere expressed that the bold stand now being made by silver men all over the country would rouse both parties to the necessity of standing in for free coinage.

The Dayton Silver Club.

DAYTON, NEV. April 26th.—The citizens of Silver City met at the Miners Union Hall on the evening of the 23rd inst., pursuant to a call, and organized the Silver City Silver League. Thos. Mayne was elected President; Colonel Quinn Vice President and John Quinn Secretary. An executive committee was also appointed, and resolutions adopted setting forth the same principles as contained in the platforms of all the other Silver Leagues hitherto organized in the State. A visiting delegation from the Lyon County Silver League was in attendance, several of whom addressed the meeting. Sixty-three voters have signed the pledge to vote for no man who is not an avowed advocate of free coinage. The roll will muster one hundred names in a few days. The people are wide awake to their interests, and enthusiastic in the cause.
